Michael Haithcock

Michael Haithcock assumed his duties as Director of Bands and Professor of Music (Conducting) at the University of Michigan August 1, 2001. At Michigan, Professor Haithcock conducts the renowned Symphony Band, guides the graduate conducting program, and administers the diverse university band program. Prior to this appointment, he served Baylor University as Assistant Director of Bands from 1978-1982 and Director of Bands from 1982-2001. As Director of Bands and Professor of Conducting, Mr. Haithcock conducted the internationally acclaimed Baylor Wind Ensemble and the faculty-student new music ensemble "Spectrum". In addition, he was responsible for the graduate program in Wind Conducting as well as the administration of Baylor's diverse collegiate band program. Mr. Haithcock served as director of the Baylor University Golden Wave Marching Band from 1982-1990. He also led the Baylor Courtside Players basketball bands during that period in addition to his other conducting and teaching responsibilities. Professor Haithcock received the 1993-1994 Baylor University Outstanding Creative Artist Award in recognition of his artistic leadership and achievement.

Elizabeth B. Peterson is an Assistant Professor of Music Education and conductor of the All-Campus Band at Ithaca College in Ithaca, New York. Professor Peterson teaches undergraduate methods and conducting courses, and also supervises student teachers. She received her Master of Music degree from Northwestern University and Bachelor of Music degree from the University of Michigan. She is currently pursuing a doctorate in Music Education at Shenandoah University in Virginia. Before moving to Ithaca, Ms. Peterson was an arts administrator and Director of Bands at several public schools in Ohio and Illinois. Peterson played trumpet in the North Shore Community Band under the direction of John P. Paynter. She is active as a clinician and guest conductor. Currently, Ms. Peterson is a co-conductor of the Ithaca Concert Band, Ithaca's adult community band.
